Net Neutrality

NDI can provide you with net-neutrality; that is, unbiased recommendations to ensure you receive the right technology and equipment to meet your specific business, technology and financial needs. NDI maintains strong partnerships with the leading equipment manufacturers to bring you the best product solutions at the best possible price. Whether you are considering a bleeding-edge solution or replacing legacy equipment, our experienced engineers will work with you to select and procure the correct products for your environment.

The NDI Advantage

At NDI, we apply our proven combination of people, processes and systems to help our customers gain the maximum value from their technology investment. Our solutions are currently being utilized by a number of large corporate enterprises across a variety of sectors, including: manufacturing, hospitality, banking/financial, healthcare, education, and insurance to name a few. Additionally, a number of value added resellers, systems integrators, carriers and original equipment manufacturers utilize NDI's solutions to deliver high-quality service to their customers.

Reach

Our service and support infrastructure allows NDI to deliver world-class support solutions throughout North America and in most major international markets. NDI's 24x7x365 Managed Service Center (MSC), thousands of onsite technical resources, and over 100 remote logistics centers in major markets throughout the world enable us to deliver reliable, cost-effective support when and where you need it.

Experience

NDI's management team, sales and support personnel bring together decades of experience in networking. Additionally, NDI's MSC and onsite field engineers undergo hours of rigorous education and training on a yearly basis to ensure they maintain high levels of technology and manufacturer certifications.

Flexibility

Your business needs are unique, and at NDI, they will be treated that way. We take the time to understand your business and develop a unique and innovative solution to meet your comprehensive and individual needs. Our services are designed to allow you to select the levels of service and coverage you require to augment your resources, timeframes, and budget. Furthermore, our systems have been designed to give us the unique flexibility to tailor our processes to meet your individual requirements.

“NDI is more than a networking company. They are trusted consultants, partners and seasoned providers of total solutions.”
